

dare to talk

Dare to Talk is a concept that puts your life back into learning.

Dare to Talk helps you close the gap between your everyday and language learning, helping you to see that you're never alone when learning a language, and never far away from an opportunity to learn more.

We know that daring to talk in a new situation is easiest when you're confident, prepared and supported.

The Dare to Talk app supports you learn by doing in three simple ways: Prepare, Dare and Share.

Prepare. Dare. Share.

Prepare to talk:

Getting prepared to talk could be as simple as talking to a friend, and taking some notes before you go.

If it helps you can even record this with the app so that you can listen back, and repeat what you will say.

You might want to take a picture so that you remember the scene and can share it with others afterwards.

Dare to talk:

Use what works for you and get ready to Dare to Talk: be confident, remember your preparations, focus on your goal and don't be scared to ask for help as you go, any native speaker can give you support.

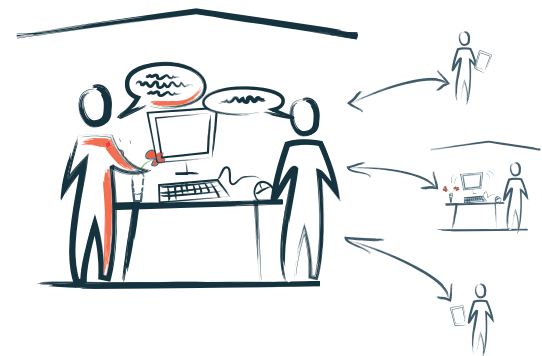

It could be useful to record yourself, or maybe take down some notes or record some phrases afterwards.

Share your talk:

Sharing your Talk online so that your classmates, friends, family, or colleagues can post and comment can help you along the way.

Listening back to conversations, alone or with others help might also help you learn. Face-to-face or online you can ask for feedback, and prepare for the next interaction.

Teaching with Dare to Talk

Dare to Talk can be used as a compliment to the methods and lessons taught in the classroom.

Dare to Talk uses an iPhone application that allows learners and teachers to upload text, photos and audio recordings to an online group.

Once someone has uploaded material , teachers and fellow learners can respond with comments or uploads of their own, meaning each learner has a pool of supporters willing to help the learning process.
